

MailStore Server 8 Now Available

ALSO INCLUDES EMAIL ARCHIVING FOR MICROSOFT EXCHANGE 2013, MICROSOFT OUTLOOK 2013

Viersen, Germany, 18 February 2013 +++ MailStore Software GmbH, one of the leading manufacturers of email archiving solutions for SMEs, presents the new version of its MailStore Server solution.

Both Microsoft Exchange Server 2013 and the Office 365 program that is based upon it can be archived using MailStore Server 8. All possible archiving methods, from the archiving of individual mailboxes to the automatic archiving of all incoming and outgoing emails, will be available for the new version of Exchange. The MailStore Add-in also supports Microsoft Outlook 2013 and its Office 365 Click-to-Run version, giving the user easy access to the archive.

Stefan Schultze, CTO of MailStore points out: "It is part of our product philosophy to start supporting new versions of email servers and email clients as soon they have been officially released by MailStore, if not sooner. Customers expect this from a company that specializes in email archiving."

Further improvements to the MailStore Server 8 include 64-bit support, reworked user interfaces for MailStore Web Access and the Outlook Add-in, which also allow modifications to the sort order, for example.

In addition to the components available to end customers, administrative components within MailStore Server 8 are also available in Chinese (simplified and traditional), Czech, Dutch, English, French, German, Hungarian, Italian, Japanese, Polish, Portuguese, Russian, Slovenian, Spanish and Turkish.

Companies can now purchase MailStore Server 8 directly online at www.mailstore.com. A free 30-day trial version is also available for download. A comprehensive list of all improvements can be seen at www.mailstore.com/en/mailstore-server-changelog.aspx
